

WILL LIBERALS AND RECIPROCITY WIN IN CANADIAN ELECTION?

ACCORDING TO PRESENT PREDICTIONS LAURIER GOVERNMENT WILL BE REPLACED.

RELATIVE STRENGTH

Glance at the Strength of Liberals and Conservatives in Various Provinces of the Dominion.

Quebec, Canada, September 18.—The general elections of Canada, which will be held next Thursday, September 21, are expected to be decided on Canada's attitude toward reciprocity between that country and the United States, and on the confidence in power of the Liberal party under the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The American Congress has already ratified the reciprocity agreement, and after a protracted deadlock in the Canadian Parliament the question of Canada's ratification was at last referred to the judgment of the people.

The elections occur simultaneously in all of the ten provinces which make up the Dominion of Canada. As originally constituted the Dominion was composed of Upper Canada, including the extensive English sections of Ontario, Lower Canada, including the extensive French sections of Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and the British North American Act of 1867 admitted British Columbia, Prince Edward Island, the North West Territories and Newfoundland, all of which are now a part of the Dominion of Canada, except Newfoundland, which did not take advantage of admission. More recently the western provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and the new Yukon Territory have been added.

Strength of Parties.
The elections are for the popular branch of the Dominion government, the House of Commons, consisting of 221 members, elected by ballot for five years. The strength of the two parties, Liberal and Conservative, at the time of the recent dissolution, was as follows:

Province.	Liberals.	Conservative.
Ontario	35	51
Quebec	35	12
Nova Scotia	12	6
New Brunswick	11	3
Prince Edward Island	3	1
Manitoba	3	1
Saskatchewan	2	8
Alberta	4	3
British Columbia	2	5
Yukon Territory	1

This gives the present Laurier government a nominal majority of 45 out of a total membership of 221. To defeat the Government the Conservative opposition must make a gain of 22 seats, while to carry on the government and organize the House they must make gains of at least 25.

Issues and Leaders.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier, now 76 years of age, has been Premier of the Dominion for over 15 years, since June, 1896, when his party, the Liberals, defeated the Conservatives under Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., known to Canadian politics as "the old war horse" and "Cumberland," from the name of the first constituency, in his native province of Nova Scotia. Sir Wilfrid is a French-Canadian, and his own province, Quebec, with its overwhelming French population, has always given him strong support.

Sir Wilfrid has toured five of the nine Canadian provinces during the campaign, and everywhere he has maintained that the reciprocity agreement was a purely business transaction, and that the loyalty of Canada was not to be trifled with for any trade advantages.

Reciprocity Opposed.
The Conservative opposition has been under the leadership of Robert Laird Borden, or "Buddy," who first challenged the reciprocity pact before the Canadian cabinet and afterwards carried the cabinet before the people. The grounds for this opposition are twofold. On the one hand the Conservatives are high protectionists and they contend that the present agreement is but an entering wedge, while on the other hand they contend that trade under such a pact would create a community of interest between the United States and Canada which could not but weaken the British connection, and would eventually bring about the annexation of Canada to the United States.

During the campaign on the stump and in the newspapers, the utterances of President Taft that "Canada is at the parting of the ways" and that the United Kingdom to the Empire was self-sufficient as to be almost impregnable, have been used to prove that the United States has ulterior designs on her Canadian neighbor, while the unpopularity of the reciprocity pact has been attributed to some American public men and newspapers have aroused the cry that reciprocity is the forerunner of annexation.

Ontario, the great industrial and agricultural province of Canada, has the largest population and the greatest number of seats at issue, 86 in all, as against 65 seats for Quebec, the next largest province. Ontario has been strongly Conservative for many years. The province was peopled in the early days by the United Empire Loyalists when the American revolution proved successful, and sought British territory to settle upon anew. To these people the annexation was a strong appeal, and the Opposition has had its headquarters here at work in the United Empire Loyalist districts.

The brunt of the defence of the reciprocity measure has fallen upon George P. Graham, the Minister of Railways, who on the stump and through his newspaper has been making a vigorous campaign. Hon. Mackenzie King, the Minister of Labor, has also been active on behalf of the measure. William Patterson, one of the authors of the pact, is an old man, and he has been kept busy in his own constituency, while Sir Adam Aylesworth, who resigned a few days after dissolution as Minister of Justice, is precluded by deafness from taking an active part as he would have liked in the campaign. High Guthrie, who seems slated as Aylesworth's successor, and A. G. Mackay, the Liberal leader in the provincial field, have also been among the most active supporters of reciprocity before the people of Ontario.

On the Opposition side, the economic and continental arguments against the measure have been set forth strongly by George Fisher Fowler, the Finance Minister in the last Conservative administration, and other leading candidates of the opposition. Sir James Whitney, Premier of Ontario, Frank Cochrane, Minister of Mines of that province, and W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, have also taken a part in trying to defeat the pact and the government.

While the reciprocity pact is the main point of attack there are several charges of scandalous conduct in administration, and a number of local questions which have aroused heated controversy.

TAFT DEFENDS THE DECISION OF COURT IN THE TRUST CASE

In His Detroit Speech Today Declares That Tobacco and Standard Oil Decisions Were Perfectly Correct.

Detroit, Sept. 18.—President Taft, at a luncheon with the board of commerce here today, took up the trusts and vigorously defended the decision of the United States supreme court in the oil and tobacco cases.

Taft referred to the fact that immediately after the trust decisions were handed down, La Follette spread on public records of the quotation from one of the president's messages as being that the president asserted his views as expressed in the message were in exact accord with the decisions.

MUNICIPAL CONGRESS AND EXPOSITION IS OPENED AT CHICAGO

Official Representatives of Cities all Over World Gather at Chicago Today For Big Event.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—International Municipal Congress and Exposition opened here today. Today's program includes speeches by Mayors Brown of Kansas City, Reuben of Philadelphia, and Fitzgerald of Boston.

Official representatives of municipalities in all parts of the United States and Canada and a few foreign countries are gathered to attend the congress, which opened at the College of Commerce, and a few foreign countries are gathered to attend the congress, which opened at the College of Commerce, and a few foreign countries are gathered to attend the congress, which opened at the College of Commerce.

As to the exposition of municipal methods and systems, which will be held at the College during the two weeks of the congress, it is believed that by making possible comparisons reference to their systems of government, their notable accomplishments in the past and their plans for the future, it will create a spirit of rivalry and civic pride that will do much for the advancement of municipal reform and betterment.

Many of the large cities of the United States have made efforts and will be represented by special exhibitions, giving a complete and highly instructive presentation of the organization of each municipality, its system of administration, the scope and arrangement of its working plan, the methods employed to insure the greatest efficiency at the smallest cost and with the minimum of friction; the number of keeping books and records, of collecting taxes and statistics and scores of other matters of interest to every large or small municipality, be it in the United States, in the Dominion of Canada or in some country across the sea.

FAMILY IS ALMOST OBLITERATED WHEN STRUCK BY TRAIN

Postmaster Frank Klein of Rockfield, Wis., and Young Son May Recover, But Wife and Three Children Are Dead.

Milwaukee, Sept. 18.—It was reported from a local hospital this morning that both Postmaster Frank Klein of Rockfield, Wis., and his two year old son, Robert, will recover from injuries received when a Soo line train struck the Klein family carriage near Rockfield last night, killing instantly Mrs. Klein, Jerry aged 7, Grace aged 11 months, and a servant girl. The dead and injured were brought here. The father and little son miraculously escaped from death. They were returning home after spending the day at a nearby town. A clump of trees entirely hid the train from view.

PREMIER STOLYPIN PASSED AWAY TODAY AFTER HARD FIGHT

Russian Nobleman Who Was Shot by Assassin Last Week Succumbed to Effects of Wound Today.

Klefo, Russia, Sept. 18.—Surrounded by his family, Premier Stolypin died today from pistol wounds inflicted in a theatre last Thursday by Dimitri Bogroff, a lawyer.

It was with a fine display of rugged Russian courage that Stolypin approached his death. Beyond giving final advice on how to complete the task of making real Russians of the people of the outlying provinces, Stolypin's only comment was: "I feel death coming and I am content."

Premier Stolypin was born in St. Petersburg in 1862. From infancy he was trained for the diplomatic service.

COTTON IMPORTS BY UNITED STATES ARE SHOWING INCREASE

Greatest Cotton Producing Country in World Imports Raw Cotton From China, India, and Other Nations.

Washington, Sept. 18.—It seems strange to see the greatest cotton producing country of the world bringing raw cotton half way around the globe and importing it for use in her own manufacturing industries. It is nevertheless a fact that the United States, which produces practically two-thirds of the world's cotton, brought from China during the last fiscal year (1911) more than 9 million pounds of raw cotton at a cost in that country of more than 1 million dollars and from India in 1910 about 5 1/2 million pounds, at a valuation of more than a half million dollars.

Other distant sections of the world were also drawn upon—Persia, 4 1/2 million pounds in 1911; Dutch East Indies, in 1909, nearly a half million pounds; Latin America, nearly a half million pounds, while other contributors include Venezuela, Ecuador, British West Indies, Santo Domingo, Mexico, Panama, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, while from Egypt, the chief source of supply of long stapled, high grade cotton, the imports in 1911 were larger than in any earlier year, amounting to 88 million pounds. In addition to this there was imported from England about 2 1/2 million pounds, presumably chiefly East Indian, Egyptian and West African, since England, of course, produces no cotton. Raw cotton importations in 1911 were larger than in any earlier year, amounting to 113,768,313 pounds, valued at $24,776,329.

Causes High Prices.
High prices of domestic cotton are the cause of the large increase in importation of cotton, especially that from China and India. The quantity of cotton imported from China never reached a quarter of a million pounds prior to 1908, and in 1909 was practically 1 1/2 million pounds. In 1910 4 1/2 million and in 1911, 9 million pounds. From India the quantity imported seldom reached a half-million pounds prior to 1908, in which year the total was over half a million. In 1910 4 1/2 million and in 1911, 9 million pounds.

The Chinese and Indian cottons are as a rule of shorter staple than that of the United States, and as a consequence are rated at a somewhat lower price in the world's markets, a fact which accounts for the large growth in the importation of these cottons in the recent years in which American cotton has commanded exceptionally high prices. On the other hand, Egyptian cotton which is of longer staple, higher quality, and therefore higher in price than that of the United States, still forms a large proportion of the imports, the quantity imported direct from Egypt in 1911 being 88 million pounds out of a total of 113 million pounds imported in that year, and its value 20 1/2 million dollars, out of the 24 1/2 million dollars worth of cotton imported.

Is Steady Growth.
Cotton importation has shown a steady if not rapid growth, especially during the last 24 years. Prior to the Civil War the quantity imported seldom reached more than 1 million pounds per annum. During the war the quantity imported was more than 1 million pounds as high as 36 million pounds in 1865, but dropping to 6 million pounds in 1867. By 1870 the total importation of cotton was 1 1/2 million pounds; in 1880, 3 1/2 million; in 1890, 8 1/2 million; in 1900, 67 million; in 1910, 86 million and in 1911, 113 1/2 million pounds.

President of Madison Traction System Will Be Named Head of Famous Business Men's and Politician's Club.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—E. Warren Montgomery, president of the Southern Wisconsin Railway Co., the local traction system, will be elected president of the Madison club this week. The committee on nominations unanimously selected him at last week's meeting and there is no opposition. The Madison club is composed of the most influential business men in Madison and some of the most prominent politicians in Wisconsin. Alfred T. Rogers, law partner of Senator La Follette and republican national committeeman from Wisconsin, is slated for secretary of the club. Among the members are Gov. F. E. McGovern and former Gov. J. O. Davidson, and several Wisconsin congressmen.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF MADISON IS REMODELED

Many Improvements Have Been Made in Home of One of Oldest Institutions in the State.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—The First National bank of this city occupied its remodeled quarters in its building at North Pinekey street and East Washington avenue today. The bank was founded in 1854 under the name of the Dane County bank and is one of the oldest in Wisconsin. An addition, three stories high, conforming to the old building, and extensive changes cost over $50,000. The banking rooms are done in marble and bronze and are among the most pretentious in the state. Three new vaults—a safety deposit vault, with fifty safety boxes; a money vault and a general book vault have been installed. Temporary quarters have been occupied in the Washington building, across the street, for the past year. A. E. Prouditt is president and M. C. Clarke cashier. The capital stock was recently increased, and the capital, surplus and undivided profits now aggregate $100,000.

Protests Against Cost of Living Results in Death To Six and Injury To 200.—Troops Called To Prevent Further Riots.

Vienna, Austria, Sept. 18.—Troops are patrolling the streets here today and are ready to declare martial law at a moment's notice to prevent a recurrence of yesterday's rioting in which 6 persons were killed and 200 wounded as result of forcible protest of the high cost of living.

BUILDING PLANS AT STATE UNIVERSITY

New Dormitory for Women Students and Home Economics Building Are Among Next Year Additions.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—A dormitory for women students, a building for home economics and university extension work, an agricultural chemistry building and an annex to the library are included in the building program of the University of Wisconsin for next year. Much of the work will be under way before winter. The buildings will conform in location and style as much as possible to the general scheme for the university's future.

The building plan is marked by handsome provision for women students. Chief of these structures will be a new dormitory capable of accommodating 150 students, to be built on University avenue between Chabourne and Lathrop halls and having a front facing Park street. It will be connected by passage ways with both Chabourne and Lathrop halls. Its cost will be $150,000. The home economics building will cost $115,000 and will have a site east of agricultural hall, facing south on Linden drive. It will be three stories high. The university extension work will be centered in this structure. The agricultural chemistry building will be erected on University avenue opposite the forest products laboratory, facing south and in line with the astronomy building. An auditorium seating 500 persons will be a feature. The cost will be $90,000. The addition to the main chemistry building will be on the west side of that building, facing Charter street. For this work there is an appropriation of $75,000.

The annex to the library and gymnasium will be on the east side of the building, one story high and the same length as the building. It will house various games of the students. It will have a running track twelve feet wide, with twelve laps to the mile, and space for indoor baseball, basketball and other sports. The first floor of the present gymnasium will be remodeled and new lockers installed. The main floor will be reserved for military drills, and gymnastics will be conducted solely in the cage on the top floor. Work will begin soon.

Plans have been advertised for construction of the new west wing to the state historical library, which will cost $125,000. Additional stock room for 150,000 books will be provided, and the state museum will receive more room as a result.

HALL & HUEBEL

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted proposition that eczema was a disease of the blood, and that in order to cure it, the blood must be purified and enriched by internal remedies. Careful experiments and scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is purely a skin disease, and curable through the skin alone. A great majority of persons afflicted with eczema have no other ailment, which is accepted as positive proof that it is purely a skin disease. Having established this fact, the chemists of the American Drug and Press Association set about to compound a prescription that would successfully cope with this disease, and after much investigation brought out Meritol Eczema Remedy, the effect of which is marvelous. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay trying the Meritol Eczema Remedy. You will be surprised at its prompt action, its soothing effect and its permanent results. Reliable Drug Co. are commissioned by the association to sell it in Janesville.

LINK AND PIN. ONE KILLED, THREE INJURED IN FREIGHT WRECK NEAR MONROE

Engine and Thirteen Cars Loaded With Equipment of Elkhorn Fair Plunge Over High Embankment.

When the heavy freight engine on the St. Paul road spread the rails on a short curve a short distance on this side of Monroe, about five o'clock yesterday afternoon and plunged down a thirty foot embankment carrying with it thirteen of the cars loaded with equipment going from Monroe to the Elkhorn fair, one man was so severely injured that he died early this morning and three others are lying injured at the Monroe hospital. The dead and injured are:

Edward A. Lull, West Allis, horse man, suffered concussion of the brain and hemorrhage of the lungs of which he died at 6 o'clock this morning at Monroe hospital.
Harry Cutler, brickman, arm broken and other minor injuries.
George Busby, Gauger, Missouri, bruised.
R. A. Johnson, Gauger, Missouri, minor injuries.

The injured are all at Monroe hospital and are improving very well, although they were badly shaken up and bruised. Mr. Lull, who died today from his injuries was attending the race horses that were under license at the Monroe fair and was riding in the stock car en route to Elkhorn, where the horses were entered for races at the fair this week. When the car in which he was riding was overturned and rolled down the embankment, Lull was crushed beneath the horses. The animals were only slightly injured.

The other two men who escaped with minor injuries were attendants accompanying their show property to Elkhorn. These and the injured brickman are resting comfortably at the Monroe hospital today and are expected to be out in a short time.

Fortunately the majority of the show people who left Monroe for Elkhorn took the passenger train, which left Monroe only a short time ahead of this extra freight train, on which it was at first intended that they make the trip. Had the large troupe of attendants and performers been on this train it is more than likely that the list of dead and injured would be much larger.

The wreck was caused by the spreading of the rails at a sharp curve. The engine No. 1606 was so heavy that the track softened by the recent rains was unable to support its weight and the locomotive pushed the rails from their place, turned over and rolled down the embankment taking the cars with it.

All traffic on the line was blocked today and passengers were transferred around the curve of the wreck. Drays and automobiles were used to carry passengers and their baggage from the railway crossing on either side of the wreck to the other crossing, a distance of about half a mile, thus enabling passengers to complete the trip although the trains on both sides were delayed.

A wrecking crew and large force of men were sent from this city and are rebuilding the track to enable the regular trains to make their usual runs. Until the track is put into good condition no attempt will be made to clear up the wreck or place the overturned engine on the track again.

RETURNS FROM VISIT TO HOME OF HIS BOYHOOD IN IRELAND

John Davey resumed work as engine hand's helper at the local shop after returning from Ireland. Mr. Davey had a vacation of two months and one half of this time he spent about six weeks in the Emerald Isle among his old friends, whom he had not seen since he left his home five years ago. He stated that the return trip was very rough, owing to the fact that the striking dock laborers at Liverpool refused to load the ship with its usual cargo and the vessel was obliged to come across with a very light cargo.

New York, Sept. 18.—The first junior championship of the Metropolitan Golf Association will be held on the links of the County Club at Plainfield, N. J., tomorrow. The tournament is open only to boys 17 years old and under, who are members of or have playing privileges at clubs belonging to the Metropolitan Golf Association.

LOWELL WILL OPEN HARDWARE STORE

Will Stock Store Recently Vacated by Johnson Grocery Store and Begin Business About Oct. 1.

W. W. Lowell, the veteran hardware man, has leased the store recently vacated by Johnson, the groceryman, No. 117 East Milwaukee street, and will stock it with hardware and be ready for business about the first of the month. Mr. Lowell has been conducting a store at Grand Rapids, Wis., for the past two years. This stock has been moved to Janesville and the manager, A. F. Wood, will be connected with the Janesville store. The advertising columns will announce the opening.

BROOMS ARE GOING UP IN PRICE SOON

A Scarcity of Broom Corn Throughout the Country Causes Price To Soar.

Brooms are going up. Broom corn is not a fruit and so it was necessarily very scarce this year and as a result the manufacturers insist on charging more for the brooms. Now the housewives will probably return to the old fashioned sweepers made by tying a bunch of twigs together and also the trade in vacuum cleaners will boom. The wife who has grown round shoulders sweeping her broom day by day can probably prevail upon her husband to invest in some of the easier and more thorough types of sweeping machinery, at us here for the best. There is nothing new on the market today, though several things are beginning to get scarce. Today's markets are as follows:

PRESS COMMENT.

Madison Democrat: "Feed your husband if he drinks; don't nag him," says a woman lecturer. But, madame, how can a man eat the morning after?

A Poor Excuse, Etc. Oshkosh Northwestern: A report from Oregon claims that wild deer are eating up the grain crop. Almost any old excuse is good enough these days when they want to boost prices.

That Maine Thirst. Rockford Republic: One poor fellow whose home is in Maine went crazy and asked the Boston police to lock him up until the result of the vote is decided. He declared that the result had been changed eight times in three days and that the strain was too much for his thirst. Why doesn't he move to some place where the difficulty in getting a drink wouldn't keep his mind so bewildered.

Keeley Cure Next. Racine Times: Twelve men who for a week have been spending half an hour daily in the cold storage room of a brewery in Evanston, Ill., announce that they have been entirely cured of hay fever. Amen!

No Auto Needed. The Harvard (Illinois) Herald: The claim is made that the automobile is a potent factor in keeping the boy on the farm. If the boy only knew when he had a good thing he would remain on the farm, even without an automobile in the family.

To the Cannery, Joe. Lawrence (Kas.) Journal: Nobody would pay an admission to hear a former Texas senator speak. It is good bye forever for Bailey.

Be a Booster and buy it in Janesville.

Guard Against Sickness:

Colds Are Coming:

Many people look at a cold as a common occurrence, and think it must take its course. This is a great mistake, a cold is like a fire, the sooner it is checked the easier it is to control it. Just as soon as you feel a cold coming, come to the Turkish Bath and we will cure it for you. This is no joke, it is the truth. Just try it out and be convinced, we have cured hundreds of colds. Ladies' hours from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. daily and all day Tuesday. Men from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m. daily and all day Saturday until 1 a. m. Sunday. Not open Sunday.

TONA VITA SURE TO OVERCOME TROUBLE

Many Thousands Nervous, Sick, Listless Men and Women Made Over By Wonderful Remedy.

There is no excuse for being all "run down." If you feel tired most of the time with a poor appetite and bad digestion, you are debilitated and nature needs some assistance in throwing off this condition.

"Tona Vita" the modern tonic, is a sure means of overcoming this trouble. Many thousands of half sick, listless, nervous men and women, who lacked vitality and energy, have actually been made over by this splendid medicine.

"Tona Vita" was only recently introduced in this country, yet the sale of it is now tremendous and still growing. It is certain no medicine could be so successful unless it was accomplishing remarkable results. "Tona Vita" is accomplishing remarkable results in a few weeks time, and brings back the old energetic spirit that is lacking.

It brings restful sleep, good digestion, more vitality and drives away the listless, dependent feeling so quickly that it will positively astonish you. Don't drag around half sick any longer.

There is an agent in every city, who will return the purchase price to you if the tonic fails to completely build you up.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is the assistant remedy to be used with Tona Vita in cases of chronic constipation. This medicine contains the splendid medicinal virtues of rhubarb, the finest of all natural laxatives. Harsh drugs strain the intestines while rhubarb, equally effective, has a tonic effect on the entire bowel tract. Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is an ideal family medicine and should be used in preference to any other laxative for children. The taste is very pleasant.

Tona Vita and Lee's Rhubarb Laxative are sold in Janesville by the Smith Pharmacy.

RELIABLE DRUGGISTS.

"Are you folks going to be all day with that prescription?" demanded a man who had been waiting just ten minutes at the Reliable. "The last place I had it filled it took just five minutes. Guess you don't know your business!"

We get that once in a while. It is the discourteous penalty of taking pains, of serving well.

The man's prescription was an eye ointment that had to be triturated. The medicinal part of it was a poison, if improperly used, but a great healing agent if properly worked up into an ointment and evenly distributed. Don't you see how the whole prescription depended upon the faithfulness and skill of the pharmacist who had it in hand?

"Five minutes."

Sure, it could be carelessly done in that time, and perhaps the patient would pay for the haste with sore eyes for years to come.

So we took our time, and in the preparation of medicines we always take enough time to do the work properly.

Which do you prefer: The druggist who gets a reputation of being able to turn out a large number of prescriptions per hour, or a druggist who has no set time allotted for any particular prescription, but takes enough hours or minutes to do the work WELL?

We don't strive for speed records in the Reliable prescription department.

We are after accuracy.

May we have your prescription business?

JANESVILLE BEATEN IN FIRST GAME OF
SERIES BY БЕЛОИТBower City Workers Taken Into Camp
By Line City Squad At Yost's Park
Yesterday Afternoon By Score of Six To Two.

The Janesville hired warriors lost the first of the Winter League series at Yost's Park yesterday afternoon to the Beloit team, by the score of 6-2. The game was quite tame the Janesville team being unable to connect with the offerings of Gregory with any consistency while Stahl, the Fond du Lac wonder, who occupied the mound for the locals was hit quite freely and especially at critical moments.

The Janesville failures were unmissed, if the word can be used when the total is so small, in the second and eighth innings. The first run came as the result of a walk to Croft and a clean single to right field by Miller. Their second and final run followed two doubles by Cahill and Hrech.

Beloit scored one in the second, one in the third, two in the fourth, one in the sixth and one in the ninth.

While offensively the Beloit team was the stronger, in their defensive play the two teams were very evenly matched, three errors being chalked up against each team.

The game was witnessed by about five hundred fans, the threatening weather making the number considerably less than was expected. The local team will be strengthened during the week and a second attempt to reach the Beloit Braves will be made next Sabbath. The score:

ENGLISHMAN IS GOLF PREMIER

Hilton Wins Championship From Herrshoff in Sensational Finish.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The American amateur golf championship passed in to foreign hands in the thirty-seventh year of its history.

green at Apawamis, but only after Harold H. Hilton of England and Frederick Herrshoff of New York had waged one of the greatest golfing battles ever seen in this country.

Herrshoff, although defeated, achieved a feat that by general consent places him in the foremost ranks of American golfers and entitles him to a special niche in the hall of golfing fame.

With 4,000 spectators turning away disappointed, Herrshoff galvanized them into enthusiastic supporters by working up from 6 down and 13 to go to even terms with the British champion on the thirty-fourth green.

He did even more, for he compelled Hilton to play an extra hole final championship match for the first time in the history of the United States Golf association.

SAMPLING OF CROP
BEGUN AT EDGERTON

Three Warehouses Opened This Morning for Sampling of 1910 Tobacco Packings—Other News.

(Special to the Gazette)

Edgerton, Sept. 18.—This morning three of the local tobacco warehouses opened for sampling of the 1910 crop, being Rose & Webb of New York, represented by E. J. Collman of Madison, and C. H. Splizner & Son, New York, represented by George Underhill of this city.

The remaining crop of L. W. Scott, who recently sold his warehouse here to William S. Brill of New York, is also being sampled.

Quite a force of men are employed and the work will continue for some time.

Taken Away for Burial.

Funeral services for the late Kenneth McNeely were held Sunday afternoon at the home, Rev. J. L. Linn, officiating.

A large concourse of neighbors and friends were in attendance. This morning the remains were taken to Escobedo for interment. Those accompanying the remains were Mrs. F. G. McNeely and son, Robert; Albert Muffley, and Mrs. Harlow Johnson and Mrs. Herlingford, the two latter being from Escobedo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Roberts of Center and Mr. and Mrs. John Devins of Footville spent Sunday in this city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leary.

The house of William Dorow, in the third ward, was struck by lightning during the electrical storm Sunday night. The bolt passed down the chimney but did little damage.

Rev. G. K. MacInnis left this morning for Antioch to attend the annual conference of the Methodist church, in session there this week.

The county fair to be held at Madison, Elkhorn and Watertown will call many Edgerton people to these points this week.

Miss Inger Barnes of this city today assumed charge of district school No. 9, in the town of Porter, for the fall and winter term. Miss Barnes is a graduate of the Edgerton high school, class of 1911, and this is her first term as teacher.

International Good Roads Congress.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 18.—What bids fair to be the most notable gathering ever assembled to advance the cause of improved highways was ushered in here today with the arrival of delegations from many parts of the United States and Canada for the fourth International Good Roads Congress. The sessions of the congress will continue through the remainder of the month. The program will include addresses by many of the most notable road experts of America.

JANESVILLE BIRDS WIN MANY PRIZES AT THE STATE FAIR

Philip Koch Especially Complimented on Showing of Rhode Island Reds—Prizes to Fred Holt and J. J. Granger.

Janesville chicken fanciers had some very fine birds exhibited in the poultry department at the state fair at Milwaukee last week and were honored with a large number of prizes. Those who had most birds were Philip Koch with four Rhode Island Reds, forty-two birds in all; Fred Holt with nineteen birds; Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, White Leghorns and Rose Comb Black Bantams; and J. J. Granger with nine birds, Rose Comb Brown Leghorns.

Mr. Koch's birds were especially fine and were widely noted by chicken fanciers from all over the state who were present at the fair and from other parts of the country. Mrs. A. P. Howes, superintendent of the department, especially complimented Mr. Koch on the superior quality of his fowls and declared that they represented probably the finest specimens in the country. The birds drew special mention in all of the Milwaukee papers as well as the thousands of visitors who viewed his fowls.

Mr. Holt's birds were also especially fine and received a number of prizes. Mr. Granger also had a good lot of chickens but had stronger competition. The prizes which the Janesville men received are as follows:

Mr. Koch, Rhode Island Reds: 3rd cock; 1st and 2nd cockerels; 1st and 2nd hen; 1st, 2nd and 3rd pullets. He made sales to chicken fanciers from Louisville, Ky.; Nashville, Tenn.; Alexandria, Minn.; and other points in this section.

Mr. Holt's birds won prizes as follows: 1st cockerel, Plymouth Rocks; 1st cock, White Leghorn; 3rd pullet, White Leghorn; 1st cockerel, Houdan; 1st and 2nd pullet, Houdan; 3rd cock, Houdan; 2nd pullet, Rose Comb Black Bantams; and 3rd cockerel, Rose Comb Black Bantams.

Mr. Granger took 2nd prize for Rose Comb Brown Leghorn hen.

Philip Koch leaves tonight for a five weeks' business trip through northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

GOLF MATCH PLANS MADE FOR TOMORROW

Mixed Foursome Match is Scheduled For Tomorrow Afternoon.—Will Entertain Beloit Golfers Friday.

There will be a mixed foursome play at the Golf grounds tomorrow afternoon for ladies and gentlemen. All ladies and gentlemen are requested to fix up their teams before tomorrow so that they will be ready to play in the afternoon. It is expected that at least sixteen couples will take part in the afternoon. The contest will be a very interesting one to watch and a good sized audience will probably be on the grounds.

In the evening after the usual Tuesday night supper there will be dancing at the club house.

Friday afternoon about eight of the Beloit club will be here to play a return game with the Janesville team. In the match at Beloit the local aggregation lost by the point, but on their own grounds they have strong reason to believe that they can defeat the Blue City team by a big score.

Next Tuesday there will be the tournament for the Presidents cup. Everybody is allowed to participate and will play scratch. This will be another interesting contest and quite a number are expected to take part in the play.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

The ladies of the Carroll M. E. church will hold their general meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the church parlors. All chairmen of the circles are requested to be present, also all the ladies.

Regular meeting of W. H. Sargent, W. R. C. No. 21 at East Side I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 19th. Mrs. F. P. Starr.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the A. O. U. will hold their regular meeting tonight at the West Side Odd Fellows' hall. All members are requested to be present. Katherine Andrews, recording secretary.

A regular meeting of the Mystic Workers of the World will be held Tuesday night, September 19. It is desired that the drill team be in attendance as initiatory work will be performed. C. W. Wisch, Prefect.

WIRE MATTER TO BE DISCUSSED TONIGHT

Fire and Water Committee Will Report on Ordinance Governing Height of Electric Wires.

With regard to the ordinance regulating the height of electric wires in the city, it is likely that the common council, at its regular meeting tonight, will take action either to make the telephone and electric companies live up to the ordinance or rescind the present ordinance and pass a substitute measure as the utility companies desire. The matter was brought up at the last meeting of the council by Mayor Nichols and a lively discussion ensued. At that time, promise was given by Alderman George C. Bachholz of the Fire and Water committee, to whom the matter was referred, to report on their findings in the case. The substitute ordinance, which has been given its first and second readings, may be given the third reading and placed on passage.

The Board of Education has prepared a communication to be presented at the meeting tonight with regard to the county training school for teachers, approving the work done by the contractors in fitting up the third floor of the Jefferson school building for use as the training school quarters.

The common council, at a meeting earlier in the year, offered the use of the third floor of the building and $1,000 to be taken out of the general taxes for fitting up the place, in case the county board decided to locate the school here.

Moore & Lovelace, cement contractors, have filed their bond and contract for work to be done for the city in the first, fourth and fifth wards. P. J. McKeown has petitioned for the transfer of his saloon license at 421 West Milwaukee street to Christy Ryan, Mr. Ryan filing his bond and oath. Other matters to be considered by the aldermen will be mostly routine, the salary list, report of the stone crusher plant and current bills.

SWEATER BARGAIN WINS THE AWARD

Committee Award "Best Bargain" to T. J. Ziegler Co. on $4.00 Sweater for $2.50.

With the offering of regular four dollar sweaters for $2.50, T. J. Ziegler Clothing company were awarded first place in last week's Bargain Page in The Gazette. The committee who made the selection were three ladies from Circle No. 4 of the Carroll Memorial church.

They took the stand that it was a very appealing bargain and represented the best value for the money of any on the page. Tonight there is the usual page full of good values on this page. It has proven of value to the merchant and the purchaser and is a thing that you cannot afford to neglect. The committee this week consists of ladies of the Carroll Society of the U. R. church.

WESTERN PRODUCTS ARE ON EXHIBITION

W. J. Hill Has Just Returned From Sun River Bench, Mont., With Samples of Crops From His Farm There.

W. J. Hill, who has just returned from his ranch at Sun River Bench, Montana, has brought with him a collection of the various products which are raised in that section under the "dry farming" system, which are exhibited in the window at The Gazette office.

Mr. Hill owns a quarter section of land along the Sun River there and M. L. O'Neill, of Leyden, also owns a quarter section there adjoining Mr. Hill's land. There is very little rainfall in that part of the state but the government is now engaged in building a dam in the mountains for an irrigation project which will be completed within about three years.

Among the crops which are raised there and samples of which are exhibited are: winter wheat, which went sixteen bushels to the acre; a sample of flax grown on Mr. O'Neill's land and which when harvested will go from 15 to 18 bushels to the acre; monster potatoes which go 200 bushels to the acre and which sell there at two cents per pound; and several specimens of sugar beets. Mr. Hill brought several specimens of ore, copper, silver and gold, which he gathered from old mines in that locality, and several old buffalo horns, the animals now being extinct in that section.

The land is located three miles north of old Fort Shaw.

MEN WANTED

The Rock County Sugar Company are now receiving applications for the coming campaign. Those desiring work should send in their applications at once.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED FORGER ADJOURNED

James Yivisaker of Edgerton Brought Up For Trial Today and Case Adjourned to Wednesday.

James Yivisaker, committed to trial in the municipal court from Justice North's court at Edgerton, was brought up for trial this morning and pleaded not guilty. The trial was adjourned to Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, and bail was fixed at $500 which Yivisaker was unable to furnish.

Yivisaker was held to trial in the local court from Justice North's court, where he was given an examination a week ago. The charge preferred against him was of forging a check for nine dollars and passing it on the J. D. Huth estate of Madison, attempting to pay for a box of shells at the Huth hardware store in Edgerton with the check from Kaufman Brothers made out to another workman, which, it is alleged, was falsely uttered.

Frank Case Adjourned.

The trial of Paul Frank of Johnston, which was set for trial this morning in municipal court, was adjourned one week. Frank is accused of painting a gun at John G. Thiede, a farmer living in Johnston, and discharging it.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

EARLY PIONEER OF
ROCK COUNTY DIED
SATURDAY EVENING

Mrs. Ethan Swain Passed Away at Her Residence on Madison Street, Evansville—Was Early Pioneer of Rock County.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, Wis., Sept. 18.—The sad news was quickly circulated on Saturday evening of the death of Mrs. Ethan Swain at her residence on Madison street. Her demise was not altogether unexpected, for it was the result of several years of sickness.

Mrs. Swain was one of the oldest residents of Evansville. She came with her mother, Mrs. Lucinda Tupper, and several children, to their homestead farm in the year 1844 when the city of Evansville was marked by only two houses. To the westward was an expanse of prairie, inhabited chiefly by the wild beasts and the red-skinned natives. Many native Indians were fed at their back door during these early years.

Mrs. Harriet Lucina Tupper was born in the village of Ripley, New York, June 8, 1833. She was united in marriage with Ethan Philander Swain at Union, Wis., January 6, 1853. They soon purchased her mother's farm where they lived until 1870 when they enlarged their farm by the purchase of the farm adjoining it, owned by Mr. O. Collier. To this they removed in the fall of the year and here they remained until they obtained a competency sufficient to educate their son, Albert Monroe Swain, at the state university and to purchase a home in Evansville. Mr. and Mrs. Swain removed to Evansville in 1882 where they have since lived and where their youngest son, Charles Ellsworth Swain, obtained the educational advantages of the Evansville high school. Their first son, Romanzo Swain, was born December 12, 1856, and died in early infancy.

The above mentioned children remain to mourn her loss. Her grandchildren are: Lester Monroe Swain of Chicago, and the Misses Genevieve and Ruth Swain of Rochelle, Ill. The latter known of her children, Albert Swain, has occupied the chair of mathematics in several prominent colleges.

Her husband has been dead for several years. The couple celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary before her death.

Mrs. Swain was a stern advocate of the virtues of the home, of intellectual and spiritual living. She was one of the early pioneers of Rock county and had many warm friends, whose sympathy goes out to the grief-stricken family in their affliction. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Delphina Hopkins.
Mrs. Delphina Hopkins passed away Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stanford. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis which she suffered about a week ago. The deceased was born May 15, 1829, in Stillwell, New Jersey, where she grew to womanhood. In 1857 she was united in marriage to John Hopkins, who was a soldier in the Civil War and who died on the battlefield.

MARKET WAS STEADY

Fairly Heavy Receipts Today Did Not Alter Prices to Great Extent From Saturday.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Fairly heavy receipts of live stock at the local market today failed to have a downward effect on the price quotations which remained steady with a fair demand for all offerings. Cattle had a tendency toward slight advances for the better offerings, prime corn fed steers capturing the market at $8.15 the high mark for the year.

Hogs remained about the same as Saturday with small change in quotations although a number of loads were sold at slightly lower figures than last week.

There were 10,000 sheep received today and the market remained unchanged. Quotations follow:

Every Silo Owner Should Have One Of These
Enclosed Steel Silage
Carriers

For several years we have been experimenting with a carrier that would do away with some of the objections of the old style carrier, and also have some of the advantages of the pneumatic elevator. In the Enclosed Steel Carrier we have accomplished this. It is built of galvanized sheet steel and is practically indestructible. It can be operated in nearly a perpendicular position. All the cut feed passes up inside and in consequence cannot be blown out of the carrier. All the buckets are carried on a single heavy chain belt and there is no side strain, and the trouble of one chain stretching more than the other that has always caused so many vexatious delays in the old style carrier is entirely done away with. The carrier buckets all returning on the top of the carrier does away with the necessity of any return supports. This in conjunction with the fact that the carrier can be set nearly perpendicular allows the buckets coming down on the outside to nearly balance the ones going up in the inside so that only the weight of the cut ensilage has to be lifted. This makes the carrier very light running. It is driven direct from the knife head shaft by means of leather belting. The tightener pulley is controlled by a spring and in the event of the carrier getting caught in any way the belt will slip or the operator can easily and quickly release the tightener and stop the carrier before any damage is done.

The hopper at the base of the carrier is so arranged that all the ensilage drops directly into the carrier doing away entirely with the unsightly pile of ensilage usually found at the base of carriers.

We can furnish an attachment for the top of the carrier to deliver at an angle. This is not necessary however, when the carrier is placed in a direct line with the window of the silo. Can be furnished in any desired length.

THE THEATERS

MUSICAL PLAY AT THEATRE SATURDAY

"The Cow and the Moon" Presented at Myers' Theatre Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

Lovers of vaudeville comedy found enough to satisfy themselves in the production of "The Cow and the Moon," a so-called musical extravaganza, presented at the Myers' Theatre Saturday afternoon and evening. The production, while it appealed to the large crowd which attended the afternoon performance and a good-sized audience in the evening, shows a lack of plot and there are no catchy musical hits, but was popular with Janesville theatregoers. Scenic effects, however, were quite brilliant and striking and in this respect the show was all that could be asked. The plot is supposed to center around the deluge of Miss Innocence, who has never seen a man, and who is supposed to become the moon bride of Dame, ruler of the moon, but the comedian work of Ed. Gilmore, as Happy, a child of fortune, and William Cross, as Hans, a happy-go-lucky Dutchman, who up more prominently than the part of Hazel Rice as Miss Innocence, Clarence Steilling as Dame, portrayed that part well and Maude Amanda Scott did her part well in the role of Patience, the opera star. Walter Wilson's acting as the lover of Innocence, lacked the strength it should have in his position as leading man. The costumes of the cast were new and all that could be desired.

"Heart Breakers."

On Friday, Sept. 29, at Myers theatre, the "Heart Breakers," the new Adams-Lough musical comedy, direct from its summer run at the Princess Theatre will be seen. This is the latest hit that Manager Mark H. Singer will present to the theatregoers of Janesville. Henry Hammer, late of the "Merry Widows" company, will be seen in the leading role. A fascinating story is built about an organization of young men who seek to revenge jiltings by blessing the young women who have wounded their hearts. In seeking revenge upon one particular girl the leader of the club loses his own heart. The Singer chorus surpasses all its predecessors in beauty, singing and dancing ability, much as that standard might seem impossible. Altogether "The Heart Breakers" with a cast of stars, an interesting farcical story, catchy music and charming chorus is well worth a visit. The play is in two acts and abounds with numerous song hits.

"The Parisian Beauties."

Gaiety, frolic, hilarity and high jinks will bring matters to a lively climax next Tuesday, Sept. 19, at the Myers theatre, where "The Parisian Beauties" will play a most welcome visit. There is certain dash and go to the performance affording a continuous whirl of merriment and display of color, brilliancy and beauty. The piece is in two parts, the first is entitled "McGulre from Shalington" and the second is "McGulre in Society." The chorus of this attraction are bowditching and attractive and do not belong to the species of faded beauties. "Splendora," the $10,000 spectacular electrical novelty, will be an added feature.

D. Mackay with "The Parisian Beauties," Myers Theatre, tomorrow night.

"Madame Sherry."

Local playgoers are fortunate not to be compelled to wait a year or longer before they are given a chance to enjoy "Madame Sherry." Usually it requires two seasons for a success of such proportions to reach here from New York, but in the case of this phenomenal Woods, Frazer and Leeder musical success, the local public will have an opportunity to see it just as it is now being presented to overhauling audiences at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York. One of the two New York companies which have been interchanging performances in New York will appear in a few of the principal cities as one of the special treats of the year. "Madame Sherry" is without a doubt the most talked-of musical comedy of a generation, and is sure to prove as great here as it was in Paris, Berlin, London, Chicago, and New York.

"Madame Sherry" will be seen at the Myers Theatre Monday, Sept. 25.

Bachelor's Honeymoon."

That great Best Theatre Success, "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," under the management of Gilson and Bradford which is to be at Myers Theatre on Thursday Sept. 21, is one of those bright, airy, elegant comedies that leaves a good taste and makes you feel better for having seen it. The play is a comedy of a widower, Benjamin Bachelor, who is a bachelor and marries a young actress, Jeannette, does not tell his lady-love that he has been married before, and that he is the father of two daughters, aged about 15 years, nor does he tell a maiden sister that he has again entered the life of a bachelor, for the maiden sister has a strong objection to actresses and is expected to leave her brother a generous part of a large fortune. Mr. Bachelor does not even inform his daughters that they have a stepmother. The truth is that he wants to keep all of his family secrets to himself. After the marriage he is at a loss where to go to spend the honeymoon, and finally decides that the best place to go will be his own home, as the twins and the sister are at a summer resort. To the servants at the home Bachelor explains quite fully that his wife is the new governess that he has engaged for his daughters. The actions of Mr. Bachelor and the supposed governess arouse the suspicions of one of the sister, and she sends word to the sister and twins, who arrive on the scene without sending word that they are coming. To add to the trouble of Mr. Bachelor, an old sweetheart of his wife appears on the scene and insists on making love to her. A lawyer who thinks that he is in love with one of the twins, decides to transfer his af-

Kansas State Fair Opens.

Hutchinson, Kan., Sept. 18.—The Kansas State Fair was formally opened this morning under auspicious conditions. In conjunction with the fair there is to be a celebration of the semi-centennial of Kansas and for this reason the management has been working hard to make the exhibits of more than ordinary interest this year. The result is the largest and best collection of agricultural, horticultural and live stock exhibits ever shown in this state, notwithstanding the very dry season. The big day of the fair will be Tuesday of next week, when President Taft and the governors of a score of states will be here to take part in the semi-centennial celebration.

OBITUARY.

Lealie Boyce.

Lealie, the eleven-months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyce, died at the home of his parents, 1040 North bluff street, yesterday morning at 6:30 after a short illness with cholera infantum.

The funeral will take place from the home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. William will officiate and interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

CHANGES IN NAVY PLANNED

Secretary Meyer Returns From Europe Filled With New Ideas.

New York, Sept. 18.—After visiting the navy yards and ship yards of England and other European countries, George von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy, returned aboard the Lusitania with many ideas that he intends to have adopted in the United States navy.

"I found much to learn when I visited the detention barracks at Chatham and Portsmouth under the navy and Aldershot under the army," he declared. "It is at these barracks and similar ones that men are punished for offenses against discipline by continued occupation at drill and useful work during the whole of each day."

"The periods of punishment are short, but a man so punished never wants to go back to it. He is kept too busy at work. I intend to establish a detention system here as far as possible on these lines."

Our Mental Horizon.
In childhood we fancied ourselves walled in by the horizon, as by a glass bell, and doubted not, by distant travel, we should reach the paths of the descending sun and stars. On experiment the horizon flies before us, and leaves us on an endless common, sheltered by no glass bell. Yet 'tis strange how tenaciously we cling to that bell-astronomy, as a protected domestic horizon.—Emerson.

Why Our Golden Crown Is Better than an imported article

GOLDEN CROWN BEER

Is first of all brewed under sanitary conditions. All Beer is made according to the same fundamental principals, but the manner of making it, the method of bottling it, of storing it, of handling it, makes Golden Crown superior to any imported beer that's brewed.

Have you ever noticed that an imported beer is poured "still" from a bottle, so as not to produce a foam? Why is it? Simply so that the dregs in the bottle may not be poured into your glass.

Try a case of Golden Crown —The pure Beer.

Per case of small bottles, $1.50.

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reporter and editorial pride.)

It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most today and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and origination of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking itself and also the question—

HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.)

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the ad of the week following the insertion of the "best bargain."

42 Merchants Have Responded— some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique originations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many new suggestions, and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish fulfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best," your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also because these announcements from every point of view are bound to make

Did you read and respond to that bargain page—you certainly missed the most interesting reading in the paper if you happened to overlook it—But here is another—just as brimful of interest to you—read every special—perhaps the very item you need most is set forth here the most extraordinary offering on the page.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

TRULY, I don't know whether to dislike them or laugh at them or be sorry for them the most.

Who?

Why the people with such an impervious armor of self interest that anything irrelevant to themselves seldom penetrates to their minds.

Of course you've met these persons with whom all conversational roads lead promptly, not to Rome, but to home.

Which have you done, then?

Most likely you have taken a fourth alternative (that is quite correct, my grammatical critics, I just looked it up) and have simply avoided them.

I met an unusually violent member of this species the other day. She is a person whom I know but slightly, so I opened up several good leads for general conversation. Each time she promptly diverted the channel of conversation towards herself and her family and attempted to impress me with their position and importance.

Now, perhaps you are thinking of Bishop Selwyn's definition of a bore as "a person who will persist in talking about himself when you want to talk about yourself."

If you are going to quote that against me I insist I had a right to plead not guilty. Truly all I desired was to find some general ground on which we could meet and share and share alike in the conversation, and that she would not let me do.

So, as soon as I well could, I fled.

Just as we all do.

That's what I meant by being sorry for these people. By their conversational selfishness they not only deprive themselves of the vast pleasure that comes from taking an intelligent interest in other's lives but they drive all who can escape away from them.

One of the primal instincts of the human mind is a love of fair play. And just as the boy who does not play fair is ostracized by the "gang," so the man or woman who won't play fair conversationally is avoided and disliked by the grown up "gang."

No more learned and instructive conversationalist than Macaulay ever lived and yet he was carefully avoided by many men one would have expected to delight in him.

Why?

Well, let Charles Sumner explain. In writing to a friend of an interview with Macaulay he says that the latter is "truly oppressive; if you speak he does not respond to what you say but while your last words are yet on your lips takes up again his wondrous tale."

I will admit that Bishop Selwyn's definition is true—in a certain way. We do dislike a man who persists in talking of himself all the time because we want to be talking of ourselves. That we should wish to be a part of human nature. But since we are in the habit of controlling that desire and listening to others some of the time we think we have a right to expect a like self restraint and forbearance from others and are justly offended with those from whom we do not receive it.

Macaulay thought he could talk all the time because he knew so much that he must always be interesting. But no one is clever enough, no one knows enough, no one has a sufficiently interesting life to entitle him to monopolize the conversation.

And he who thinks he is entitled to do so will doubtless, like Cowper's cat, "learn in school of tribulation."

The folly of his expectation.

Unless, perchance, this hint may help him to learn before he enters that unpleasant school.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

THE ORANGE AND PINE-APPLE.

The orange contains citric acid which is milder than the malic acid of the apple. The percentage of nutrition in it is very small. It is best eaten in the morning alone or with other acid fruits or the banana. It should not be eaten with bread, meat, milk or other substantial foods. Considering the small percentage of nutrition in it, the orange is a very expensive food, the apple being in every way preferable.

Pineapple is a valuable fruit, especially in cases of weak stomach digestion. It contains all of the fruit acids and a substance which serves as a digestant. It may be eaten with bananas or any other fruit. With the banana it forms an excellent combination where a light but nutritious meal is required, but the fiber should be carefully excluded because it is digested with difficulty. It may be eaten alone for breakfast, where a light morning meal is taken.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Using the Best of Yourself.

A RESOLVE the business girl should make for the season of renewed activity that is at hand is to do the highest work of which she is capable. She should not be content to do a low grade of work if she feels within her the capacity to do a higher. And she should continually test herself, stretch herself upward, as it were, and see if she is capable of the higher.

This is not a question of doing work well. The work she is doing she may be doing well; but if she is capable of better things, she is not being true to herself to stay where she is. Every one should live up to the highest in her. It is the call of the divinity within one to come into her own.

One rarely fills up the measure of her present work without there being something bigger for her to go on to. Something in her is needing room to expand, and she needn't be afraid to go forward. True growth will proceed. The very fact that she feels that she can do the higher work means there are capacities there to do it, latent powers that are calling for a way to express themselves.

And the girl who does go on to higher work is entering new realms of happiness. As life opens out and interests broaden, joy comes to her in new forms and by new channels hitherto undreamed of. For when we climb up into this higher chamber of ourselves, as it were, we get nearer and nearer to the inner joys of living.

And the girl who is indifferent about her work should think of this. Possibly the reason she finds little joy or zest in her present occupation is because she is using only her lowest faculties; and the fine, joy-giving parts of her nature are being buried. To do the highest things of which one is capable is like mounting on joyful wings, up, up, through illimitable space to the universe's topmost peak.

The business world is getting into harness again for the new season ahead. Let every business girl in it study herself and her present position. If she feels she has mastered her present work in every detail, that there is no further room in it for her to grow, and if she feels that it by no means exhausts her capacities, then she should go on to the higher work that is waiting for her. Growth is one of nature's laws. It holds good in the business world as well as in the world of matter. And the business girl who obeys it will go on into activities and usefulness and happiness of which now she little dreams.

Barbara Boyd.

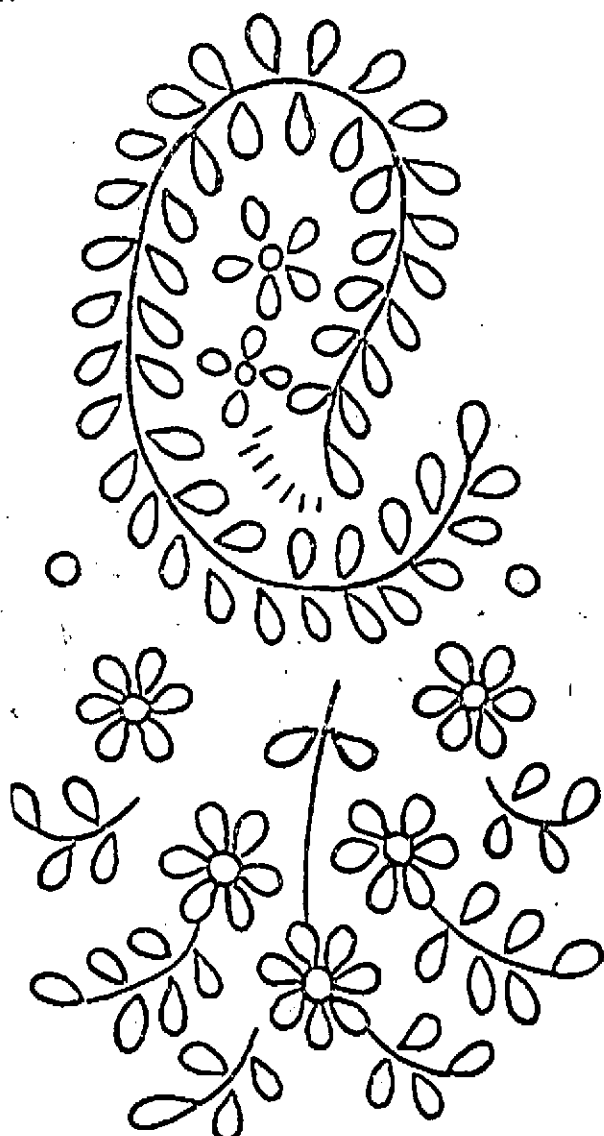

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

BOSTON'S FIRST FIRE.

By A. W. MACY.

Boston had its first fire on March 10, 1631. It has had many conflagrations since then, and of far greater dimensions; but probably none that seemed more disastrous at the time, or that led to more important consequences. In this first fire two dwellings were burned to the ground. At that time the people had no time with which to make mortar, so they constructed their chimneys of sticks, plastered over with clay. Chimneys built of such material were called "catted" chimneys. The roofs of the dwellings were made of rushes and reeds. Thus the chimneys and roofs combined to render the houses exceedingly inflammable. After this first fire wooden chimneys and thatched roofs were forbidden. Four years later a fire at New Amsterdam (New York) consumed in half an hour a building it had taken two years to erect.

THE FOREIGN CABINET

DON'T hunt after trouble, but look for success. You find what you look for, don't look for distress. If you see but your shadow, remember, I pray, That the sun is still shining, but you're in the way. Don't grumble, don't bluster, don't dream and don't sulk. Don't think of your worries, but think of your work. The worries will vanish, the work will be done. No man sees his shadow who faces the sun. —Today's.

MORE ABOUT APPLES.

Each family has its own favorite dishes, but a few new ones are always welcome to the cook. The following will not be new to everyone, for as "there is nothing new under the sun" it would be impossible to find anything entirely fresh.

A dessert which is both pretty and delicious is baked apples with nuts. The apples are peeled and cored, put into a baking dish with a little water and sugar, then fill the cavity with chopped nuts. When they are hot cooked serve cold with whipped cream.

Another nice dessert is apple meringue. Core and bake the fruit and stuff the centers with jelly or orange marmalade. Beat the white of an egg, add sugar and pour over the apples, then brown in the oven.

A rosy apple will make a very pretty dessert. Cook it after coring, without paring, in a little sugar and water. Remove the skin carefully and the rosy cheek of the apple will be a thing of beauty. If not enough of the rosy hue comes off, scrape the inside of the cooked skin and paint it back upon the apple.

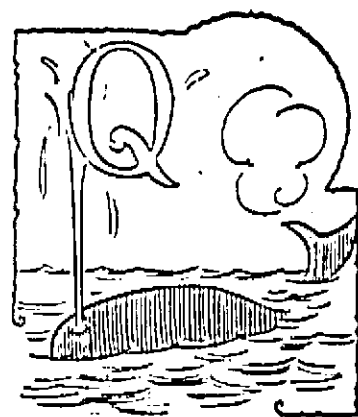

Apples make a delicious sauce for meats when spiced as any fruit. This makes a nice sauce for pork roast. The apples must be tart and cooked a long time to be thoroughly seasoned with the spices.

For apple amber, chop three-quarters of a pound of apples peeled and cored, and four ounces of suet. Mix with six ounces of bread crumbs, two ounces each of flour and sugar, two well-beaten eggs and a little grated lemon peel and nutmeg. Butter a plain mold, thoroughly beat the batter, turn it in and cover the mold with a cloth, giving the pudding a chance to swell. Bait about three hours. Serve with cream.

Fear Drives Out All Else.

When fear takes possession of mind then accomplishment is absolutely impossible, for the whole being is dominated by its sway. It keeps every instinct and emotion and resolve chained down by the fetters of its thrall.

What bird?

Their Particular Sin.

A school for poor children having read in their chapter in the Bible the denunciations against hypocrites who "strain at a gnat and swallow a camel," were afterwards examined by the benevolent patroness, Lady—, as to their recollection of the chapter "What, in particular, was the sin of the Pharisees, children?" and the lady, "Ating, camel, my lady," was the prompt reply.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation. For I could hardly stand the pains in my side, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as I was afraid to stop too soon."—Mrs. Fannie Melles, 2725 N. 15 St., Elwood, Ind.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

REFERENCE MADE TO ASTOR SCANDAL IN SERMON YESTERDAY

ASTOR WEDDING DISCUSSED BY
DR. BEATON IN ADDRESS ON LAWS OF MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

THE EUGENIC THEORY

Based On Physical Health, Purity, and Natural Duties of Parents and Children, Exploited As the True Idea By Pastor.

Speaking on the subject, "The Family, Its Laws of Marriage and Divorce," Dr. David Beaton in his address to the congregation at the morning services at the Congregational church Sunday, made reference to the famous Astor-Forbes wedding, characterized it as the "Astor Scandal."

"Why is it that we Congregationalists are ashamed of the fact that a Congregational minister married Mr. Astor and his bride? The minister who performed the ceremony had been in the church two years, turning from another faith, but that does not alter the fact."

"Mr. Astor had been divorced by his wife for a statutory cause. He had committed a crime and was divorced, and in the eyes of the law he could not marry in the state of New York until a certain given time."

"The theory of the whole citizenship is that the state is supreme and the theory that the local or state government governs us gives us standing in the community. When he tried to disobey the laws of his own state he was fulfilling his own citizenship."

"Mr. Astor became a wed, but by going out of the state he could do so. Therefore he committed a second crime in going out of the state to get a permit to wed. The mere fact that he could evade the laws and go into another state to do so, does not alter it at all."

"That is what every Christian minister should have said when Mr. Astor brought them to perform his wedding ceremony. They all should have said: 'You come to us because we stand as the representatives of the moral and religious sentiment in the community and if you receive our blessing you can say you have received the blessing of the moral sentiment of the community.'"

Dr. Beaton spoke at some length on the various ideas of marriage and divorce in America and Europe and set forth the Eugenic or racial idea of marriage as the nearest perfect. He said: "There is no such thing as an indissoluble marriage. If the marriage relation is broken on the part of the two parties who have entered into it, it is broken in the sight of God and the mere civil decree is only the public announcement."

"All of you who are trying to keep ahead of the times, the pastor said at the beginning of his sermon, are aware that America is in a state of chaos as regards the marriage relation. On account of the mixed character of the population we have inherited cross currents of the family, and political life with a conflict between the church and state authorities on the marriage question."

"There are three great theories of marriage. First is the sacramental. It means that marriage is a sacrament. It means that marriage is a sacrament and cannot be dissolved. It means that it is performed only by the church authorities. Second is the theory of the civil contract, dissoluble by either party by reason of the acts of the other. That is the American idea. They mix the purely ecclesiastical with the civil contract."

"The third theory is what is known as the Eugenic theory. It means that the state in the continuance of the race and in the interest of the physical and mental interests of the children and family to be created by it. Jesus first gave expression to the Eugenic theory of life and Paul was the second to voice it."

"What has been the result in Europe where the sacramental idea originated? The sacramental idea was not known until about the thirteenth century and not until the thirteenth century did the church take positive form. For nearly a thousand years that theory dominated Europe until it was shattered by the Reformation. One of the first acts that shattered it, occurred in Great Britain."

"Now you would naturally suppose all marriages were indissoluble, but such has not been the case. Not one single thing that the church has tried to regulate has brought greater confusion than its laws of marriage. To-day in Spain and South America where ecclesiastical law still prevails, conditions are worse than in America."

"The theory of the Roman Catholic church is that marriage is indissoluble unless you can pay the price. If you can pay the price, the marriage will be annulled, not dissolved. You can get anything you like from the church if you can only pay for it."

"The famous affair and other cases were cited by Dr. Beaton as proofs that these conditions still exist. "The idea that marriage is only a civil contract is false," he said. "The idea that marriage is only a contract between two persons. Some of the late writers have done much to bring about a confusion of ideas on the marriage question and allowed the entrance of the idea that marriage is purely a personal matter. Of course at first it is personal matter in falling in love, but it becomes of greater concern than that in the bearing of children and their upbringing. The contract idea has overemphasized the idea of the satisfaction of one's own tastes, temperament, social desires and pleasures and has multiplied the excuses for divorce."

"How are we to reconcile the laws of the church with the laws of the land? Ministers regard the church as having created a certain moral atmosphere, which branches out about the laws and the church's sacramental idea is incorporated in law. We have passed the time when the church has a right to interfere with the civil law."

"I believe in the sacred idea of marriage, sacred in one love that holds one man to one woman. "What is meant by the Eugenic or racial theory? It brings us back to the laws of God in Nature and shows that the laws which should regulate marriage and divorce, the social customs that influence the family life, and the religious sentiments and sanctity of marriage are based, not on theological dogmas or ecclesiastical authority, or caste, or sex conditions, but are based on and inherent in the laws of physiology, health, purity and natural duties, service and obligations both to the individuals, the children and the community or race."

"The Eugenic theory would yield the following results to the mated couple, the children and the state: Equality of law of both marriage and divorce of moral, intellectual, physical and civic grounds to man and woman. It would emphasize the family and race obligations and emphasize the family as against the individual. It would give practical and rational grounds for the sentiment of Love, the sacredness of Religion and the seriousness of the civil contract in marriage, thus enabling the family, helping mated couples and serving the state."

IMPROVEMENTS MADE FOR ELKHORN FAIR

Number of Improvements Have Been Made on Grounds—Increase
In Size of Grounds.

Visitors to the Watworth County fair at Elkhorn, Sept. 19, 20, 21 and 22, will note a number of improvements to the grounds since last year, chief of which is the addition of seven more acres of land. The steady growth of the fair during the past few years, both in way of crowds and exhibits, has so encroached upon space allotted to the various displays, that the society found it necessary to again increase the ground space. Four years ago three acres were added, and seven this year, making an increase of ten acres within the past four years. The new addition is on the south side of the grounds, and borders the C. M. & St. P. tracks.

It was fifty-six years ago this fall that the society bought its first tract of land at Elkhorn for fair purposes. Up to this time the annual exhibit had required but little space and the need of land by a public spirited citizen or was looked for by a small rental. The initial purchase comprised six acres, and to this substantial additions have been made from time to time as requirements seemed to demand, until today the grounds cover an area of forty-six acres.

The enclosure is the largest devoted exclusively to county fair purposes in the world, and with its equipment of thirty-one buildings represents an aggregate cost of approximately $75,000. The largest building on the grounds is the amphitheatre, built in 1896. It is 410 feet long, has a seating capacity of 4,000 and cost $1,000. This is the largest grandstand on a half mile track in the United States. There are ten barns which every year provide shelter for over 1,000 head of exhibition horses, cattle, sheep and swine, while the large poultry building houses over 2,000 chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys and pet stock. The main exhibition building, known as the floral hall, has over 20,000 feet of floor space, while the art hall, vegetable and fruit annex, and the various other buildings are substantial and commodious structures.

CHICAGO PASTOR DEFENDS SCOUTS

Yesterday morning at the Universalist church, Kimbark avenue, near Sixty-fourth street, Dr. Frederick W. Miller spoke in defense of the boy scout movement.

"Owing to recent attacks upon the boy scout movement by those unacquainted with its aims and methods, I deem it wise that all interested in our boys' welfare should rally to its support," he said.

"In America alone this institution, though less than two years old, has over a half million members, while throughout the world more than two millions are enlisted in its ranks and hundreds are daily flocking to its standard. It is made up of all kinds of boys, rich and poor, good and bad, Protestant, Catholic and Hebrew. In fact, any boy from twelve to eighteen who will take the oath and subscribe to the rules is admitted."

"This organization exacts no strict obedience, has no drills and no discipline, and, aside from its name, is not military. The watershed is, 'Be prepared'—not for war, as many third sons suppose, but for service to humanity. This vast army is being trained not to destroy life, but to do good by making war upon bad habits that tend to deteriorate both city and country boys."

"The scout movement is in accordance with the new education as taught by Froebel and Pestalozzi—to furnish employment for the boys in agreement with their whole nature, to develop them physically by swimming, rowing, signaling, life saving, walking, running and making useful things, thus acquainting them with nature and their fellow-men."

"The scout who lives up to his teachings is 'trustworthy, loyal, helpful, courteous, kind, obedient, brave, clean and reverent.' He also does a good turn for somebody every day, thus developing his deepest religious nature."

"Already the boy scouts have 'made good' in Chicago and other large cities by protecting property in times of emergency, watching war on fire-detecting insects, helping clean our streets, ridding our houses of mosquitoes, flies and other pests, on Arbor day setting out thousands of fruit and shade trees, and in cases of accident rendering first aid to the wounded."

"From a study of its constitution and a close observation of its work, I am convinced that there is much to commend and little to criticize in this new movement for the gradual uplift of the twentieth century youth, more than any other it is helping to solve the hitherto difficult boy problem that has puzzled all preachers, teachers and parents."

NEW ICE HOUSE IS NOW BEING ERRECTED

City Ice Company Has Purchased
Land on Goose Island and Have Broken Ground For Structure.

Work has already been started on a new ice house which is being built by the City Ice Company on Goose Island. The company has purchased thirteen lots from the Richardson estate and will rush the work on the new building in order to have it ready for the storage of ice this winter.

The new building will be 100 feet long, 60 feet wide and 24 feet high. It will be located near the city limits, but the old building which was burned down this summer and the place of which the new structure is to take. The ice house will be located near one of the best ice cuts on the river and with the addition of new machinery, which will be installed when the building is completed, the local company will be one of the best equipped in this section.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

(By H. L. RANX.)
The farther east you go the more apparent are the brutalizing influences of wealth and position. All through

New Jersey, for instance, they are still using the old chum tubs, the paper napkin and the revolving phonograph. There you will find the family photograph album, with a tiny type of the head of the house which makes him look like a low-spirited, unattractive, and for a hair restorative, along with a dangerous type of brother Charley in chin whiskers and a vest like a hovering chestnut. The western man who goes east nowadays will find it harder to adapt himself to conditions than a back-sawed hired man in a pleasing contest. A guest at the Waldorf Astoria who fails to hold his napkin by seizing one corner in his teeth and drawing it through a cocktail napkin ring is about as popular with the management as a perspiring goat in a round dinner. It is an established rule to scrape his plate and pile up the side dishes, and the man who neglects this pleasing duty has about as much show of breeding into the inner circles of society as a pugilist in ring costume. The poor old east is in possession of these respects as the game of four-ball billiards.

The palace stock car is one of the most pleasant which the beef trust has perpetrated upon the ultimate consumer. If you live near the railroad track and have breathed the aroma from a stately procession of these monstrous cars, you can go through the stock yards without having both nostrils plugged with cotton batting. Death must seem sweet to a refined holder which has ridden two hundred miles in one of these parlor cars.

CASCARETS INSURE INSIDE CLEANLINESS

The Millions of Cascaret Users Never Have Headache, Constipation, Bloating or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage way every few days with salts, cathartics pills or castor oil. This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate and remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gasses take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A recent box of your Cascarets will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

entertainment for the youngsters and a fine picnic supper was served. The boys were in charge of Mrs. Zoe Pearl Park and Mrs. J. A. Craig.

ERODHEAD.
Broadhead, Sept. 18.—Miss Jessie Thompson went to Chicago Friday for a stay of a few days with her sister, Mrs. Charles Schwitzer.

Ed. Butler, a former resident of Broadhead, but now of Waukegan, is visiting with old-time Broadhead friends. Mrs. Florence Heiber and children of Janesville, came to Broadhead Friday noon for a short stay with relatives.

Mrs. Gary Clauson and daughter, Maude, of Chicago, who have been here for some weeks visiting relatives and friends, went to Whitewater Friday where they will spend a few days with Mrs. Clauson's brother, Frank, from that city they will return to Chicago.

Prof. E. W. Oldenburg went to Milwaukee Friday to visit the state fair. E. J. Dodge, who has been seriously ill for some days, is reported slightly better.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tromsdoe are home from their trip to Lake Mills and Chicago.

Mrs. D. E. Austin and daughter, Miss Grace Austin, were guests of Janesville friends on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lee have decided to embark in the restaurant business and in a few days will open up a business in the Barnes building where H. L. Allen was located for so many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stephens and son, Roy, departed Friday afternoon for San Diego, Cal., for an extended stay.

LOCAL CLYDESDALES ARE PRIZE WINNERS; JAS. M'LAY HONORED

Nearly All Exhibits of Famous Breed of Draft Horses at State Fair
Were From Janesville—Mr. McLay Judge at Illinois Fair.

In recognition of his position as the leading importer and breeder of Clydesdales in the United States, James E. McLay of Janesville, Wis., has been offered the appointment of judges of Clydesdales at the big Illinois state fair at Springfield, to be held Sept. 29 to Oct. 7. McLay Bros., of which firm he is a member, exhibited their three-year-old champion, Sammie, draft bay, at Milwaukee, this honor coming right after he won the champion honors at the Minnesota state fair at Hamline. That the animal lost the championship at the Iowa state fair at Des Moines was due solely to carelessness of a blacksmith who shot him and caused lameness. At Milwaukee McLay Bros. added another prize-winner, King Norman, imported a week ago from Scotland, where he won first prize at the Scottish shows, including the Kalketta, Janesville breeders.

With the exception of those by Walter L. Houser of Mendota, all the exhibits of Clydesdales at the Wisconsin state fair were placed by breeders at and within six miles of Janesville, which community has fairly earned the title of the Clydesdale headquarters of America. Among these breeders were Gordon B. Hamill, McLay Bros., and Andrew Walker, Janesville, and Alexander M. McLean, Avonlea.

Judge A. C. Reable of the Missouri agricultural college, Columbia, Mo., a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, judged the horses at the Wisconsin state fair; Prof. C. E. Curdes, dean of the college of agriculture at Ames, Ia., at the Minnesota fair and Robert Miller of Ontario at the Des Moines fair.

Walter L. Houser's "Amaryllis" was the grand champion Clydesdale mare at the Milwaukee fair, and defeated the grand champions of the Iowa and Minnesota fairs. Mr. Houser, who at present is managing the Progressive campaign at Washington, is an extensive raiser of Percherons and Clydesdales at Ethelwood Farms, Mendota, Wis.

ELABORATE WEDDING
HELD AT LIMA HOME

Miss Caroline Schockkopf and Henry Ludtke Take Nuptial Vows Before Large Gathering of Friends.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Southwest Lima, Sept. 18.—On Wednesday evening, Sept. 6, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schockkopf, occurred a pretty wedding when their daughter, Caroline, was united in marriage to Henry Ludtke. At 7:30 o'clock to the low strains of the orchestra six little girls, Roscoe Schockkopf, cousin of the bride, Laura Schultz, Martha and Ernestine Schockkopf, brother and sister of the bride, Hazel Fredeyke and Irene Wood, appeared as ribbon bearers and formed an aisle through which the bride and groom slowly made their way and took their places beneath a canopy of ferns, where the Rev. Bergmann, the German minister of Milton, was in waiting and performed the ceremony in the presence of about two hundred invited guests. The bride was beautifully attired in a handsome white embroidered chiffon over white satin and pearl trimmings and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of bride roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rosie Schockkopf and two cousins, Misses Hazel Schockkopf and Emma Rehnstuck. Miss Rosie was attired in blue silk and white, Miss Hazel in pink silk and white, and Emma in a pretty cream embroidered chiffon over blue. The bridesmaids also carried wreaths of asters and white carnations. The groom was neatly attired in the customary black and was attended by his brother, George Ludtke, cousin, Richard Ludtke and friend, Archie Giesler.

After the congratulations the company married to a large tent which had been erected on the lawn where a beautiful wedding feast was served by several young lady friends of the newly wedded couple.

The balance of the evening was spent in dancing, music being furnished by a Janesville orchestra during the entire evening.

Refreshments were served during the evening consisting of ice cream and cake.

The bride is one of our popular young ladies, while the groom is an industrious and well-to-do young farmer. The many costly and beautiful presents show the esteem and respect in which the young couple are held.

It was at a late hour when the company began to leave, all wishing Mr.

NO MAN'S LAND A ROMANCE

"Just as Black gave the O. K. signal and shut off the motor and dynamo, the door opened again, and his wife spoke to him. She said, almost timidly: 'Douglas . . . is anything the matter?' He said in a rough, surly tone: 'Everything's the matter. That was Power, has stolen one of the boats and left the island. I've just asked Voorhis to send some one in his place. He says there's a man on the way; it seems Power sent in his resignation yesterday evening.' Those were his words, in effect—as nearly as I can remember them. He added something offensive about that being the finish of that flirtation and that he'd thank her to leave the next operator alone. She said: 'Oh-h!'—as if he'd hit her with a whip. Then he got up and announced that he was going to the farmhouse to get some breakfast. It was then just getting a little light. He said she needn't hurry, that he would probably be at the beach by the time she came to breakfast—wanted to find out which boat Power had taken. Then he went away, and the woman shut the door again.

"This time I let Black take his road alone; I'd other fish to fry. I could hear his wife moving about in the other part of the building and judged she was dressing; but she took an interminable time to it. . . . In the course of the next century or two, however, she came out, dressed, and took the path to the farmhouse. I let her go, timed myself as close as I could, and dodged into the wireless room. It was taking a chance; I knew that if Black returned his wife wouldn't be worth a playmate; but I had to know Voorhis's message.

"I started the motor and called New York. When they answered I gave Black's signal and demanded a repetition of the message. That was taking another chance; the operator at the other end might recognize the difference in our styles of sending and refuse me. But he may have been sleepy; at all events he obliged without comment. Voorhis had wiredless: Power gave notice he was leaving yesterday evening. Now man on way, should reach New Bedford this morning, island by evening, conditions favorable. Name, John Handyside. He is in my confidence. . . . At least that was the substance of it. . . . 'You can bet I shut off and stinned out of there in a jiffy; I'd been in a cold sweat all the while. The racket my sending raised had sounded as loud as the Trump of Doom; I couldn't save my neck, understand, how Black failed to hear it, even if he were at the other end of the island, and come back and exterminate me. So I bent it on the dead jump.

Were Having It Hot and Heavy.

"The farm-house was in my way, however, and I pulled up there to reconnoiter. There was a sound of voices out front, and I went in the back way—the premises being empty—and snopped to the front windows and eavesdropped. To that instant I'd had never a thought that you might be mixed up in the mess; but I recognized your voice, and overheard just enough to open my eyes to the complexity of the situation.

"I didn't linger long enough to hear much; my position being somewhat delicate—from more than one point of view. So I sneaked out by the rear again, and laid for you on the path to the beach. Then that shower came up and I lost touch with the path. By the time I'd refound it and traced my way back to the farm-house, you were gone. I set sail in pursuit, but by the time I sighted the deserted village, you were invisible, and Blackstock (by this time I know his right name) was superintending the planting of Power. Seeing nothing of you I concluded—and hoped—you'd sloped for the boat, and dodged round after you. Those shots stopped me right by the boat on the beach; I saw you coming and

"I've talked myself hoarse—for once in my life. Never dreamed I'd have such a taste of Heaven. . . . Coast was about to speak when Appleyard stopped him with a lifted hand. 'Look,' he said, with a wide gesture, 'and if you're superstitious at all—that is to say, human—hug comfort to your heart. For my part I'm going to take this for an omen. You may please yourself.'

"Overborne by the freshening easterly wind, which blew down the Sound as through a funnel, the fog was rolling back like a scroll. The little man laughed gently. 'Haven't we won out to light and freedom, while back there'—he indicated the looming headland astern that shut off No Man's Land from their vision—'still they walk in darkness, bound upon the wheel of their own malignity?'

"'Well,' conceded Coast a little dubiously, 'but on the other hand . . . here's this wind brewing. Doesn't it smell like an easter to you?'

"Appleyard sniffed contemptuously. 'It does, it sure do,' he admitted. 'We'll have a bit of a blow by night, fall, certainly.'

"'And that means trouble, doesn't it?'

"'Why?'

"'Because I, for one, am going back to No Man's Land tonight. And the more wind, the tougher the job of working back . . .'

"Appleyard grimaced his disgust. 'Who's afraid?' he demanded, truculent. 'A pessimist,' he misquoted with a large if ineffectual air of philosophical contemplation, 'is a fellow who has to live with optimism. Not only that, but you make me tired.'

"For six hours the younger man stood a lonely watch, companioned only by the melancholy voice of the bell buoy off the southern entrance, a sound, the most forlorn and dreary known to man, which came fitfully to his ears in the occasional lull of the wind.

"An six bells sounded Appleyard hopped on deck, yawning and rubbing his eyes, but with a light in the latter, as soon as he permitted them to be seen, and a springiness in his movements which testified to the refreshing soundness of his slumbers. 'Howdy?' he chirruped. 'Nothing alarming turned up, eh?'

"'Not a thing,' said Coast. 'Good enough. Don't look for 'em all evening. When'd this hull set in?'

"Coast informed him, 'That's all right; fit in with their plans; they'd rather make a landing in the dark, anyway.'

"'What difference would that make?'

"'Not much; only the fewer boats touching at No Man's Land, the less attention attracted. I suppose you know there's a life saving station on Gay Head? Sure; and part of its job is to keep a list of everything that passes by, from a rowboat to a coast-wise liner.'

"Of course; but—look here, Appleyard. Coast paused, doubt flitting his tone.

"'Sir, to you?'

"'There's one thing been troubling me. It seems to me we're taking a lot for granted. Of course, to begin with, I was only too keen to believe the worst of Blackstock. But, seriously, what warrant have you for believing he's mixed up with this smuggling game?'

"Appleyard rubbed his nose reflectively. 'Well,' he drawled, grinning. 'I haven't got any sure-enough good excuse, I admit. I just know it's so. That's all.'

"'But—'

"'What's Blackstock sticking out there for? Not because he likes it, you can bet; not solely because he's afraid of getting caught—for he settled on No Man's Land before Dundas came through with his confession; not because he would be eager in some corner of the world across the water—'

"'I told you his wife said—'

"'She said precisely what he told her. Naturally. Probably believes it. Reason why he dropped his remittances to Dundas; because he's broke, and down, and desperate—ready to turn his hand to anything to earn a dishonest dollar. And this job's ideal for his purposes.' Appleyard wound up triumphantly.

"'But,' Coast argued, 'she has money.'

"'How do you know?'

"'At least, her aunt had, and it was to go to her.'

"'But did it? I'll lay you a handsome wager that either she never got it or it wasn't much anyway and Blackstock managed to run through it with the customary facility of secondhands of his class. . . . Don't talk to me; I tell you, I know a lot of things for certain that I don't know for sure; and this is one of 'em. . . . And now if you'll just kindly quit finding fault with my unimpeachable management of this affair, and duck below and pound your ear for a couple of hours, or until I call you, you'll be in much better shape for what's before you this night.'

"Coast, soothed by the swash of waves and the softly modulated tolling of the distant buoy, presently dozed off; nor did he wake until Appleyard shook his shoulder several hours later.

"He started up in some perturbation—with that singular flutter of the heart that men sometimes wake to face a crucial hour.

"'Well—?' he asked, half dazed. 'Time,' returned Appleyard coolly. 'They're just about to stand in round Lone Rock. Come on deck.'

"His small head and narrow shoulders were momentarily silhouetted against a violet-shaded square of sky that filled the companion opening.

"Doesn't it smell like an Easter to you?'

cast; he was now fully awake and very alert.

"With a muffled cough the motor began to throb and drum. The Echo gathered way. Coast swung her petting to starboard as Appleyard, throttling the speed to half, climbed out and dropped the hatch.

"'Right,' the little man approved. 'Now hold her steady for Pasque, not too far up channel, and stand ready to put her about when I give the word.'

"'Aye, aye,' said Coast intelligently. He pondered a while as the boat forged steadily up against the seas. 'Suppose,' he said abruptly, 'this isn't the right boat?'

"Appleyard granted unpleasantly. 'It's got to be,' he affirmed with conviction. 'What else could it be?'

"'You'd make a shine gambler, if you want to know,' he added, bustling about busily.

"Coast subsided, although he continued to eye the oncoming boat with unmitigated mistrust.

"Appleyard, having cast off all but one of the stops securing the gear to the boom, first lighted and set out the starboard lamp, which was of course invisible to the approaching boat, then lighted and placed the other beneath the seat.

"'I got an eye-full of her with the glasses as she came across the bay,' he said, pausing beside Coast and balancing himself lightly against the railing of the boat. 'She's a stepper all right; a cabin cruiser about thirty-four over all with a good, stiff engine in her—twenty-five H.P., I'd guess. She moves when she moves!'

"'That argues a crew of two?' Coast surmised.

"'Just about—aside from our friend the passenger, Mr. Handyside—who's in such a sweat to get on his job that he has to risk the passage in the teeth of an easter,' said the little man. 'You can bet your boots no one else would run the chance—nor he, unless it was an urgent business. . . . Now go about and stand across again, a bit further up the channel,' he advised as the Echo drew under the shadow of Pasque. 'So-o; that's it.'

Hint to Amateur Carpenters.
A nail driven into oak or other timbers oftentimes bends or breaks. To avoid this all is needed is a little wax or soap. The nail, if greased with either of these will go straight into the board. Carpenters who do finishing work bore a small hole in the handle of their hammers and then fill it with either wax or soap, running the nails into it as they use them.

A New Lord & Thomas Book

Clever Maneuvers—Strategy in Advertising

We have now to announce the most valuable book that we ever have issued on advertising.

It compiles the digest of countless experiences in a thousand separate lines.

It cites many examples of what has been done—of what can always be done—by clever and tested maneuvers.

It tells how to do quickly, cheaply and safely what used to involve time, money and risk.

It reveals, for the first time, the new science of Strategy, to which all of our latest successes are due.

There was never a book more interesting, more helpful, to a man who has things to sell.

Our first great book was on "Reason Why" copy. All good salesmanship-in-print has ever since been based on it.

Our next was on men—on the value and rarity of real genius in selling. On the need for combining ideas. Since then there has been a crying demand—an over-demand—for men of the requisite caliber. And such men are earning, on the average, twice what they received before.

Our next was "Safe Advertising." It told how to conduct, in any line, riskless experiments. How to let the thousands decide what the millions will buy. It told how to reconnoiter—how to skirmish before attack. That book has saved advertisers, in all probability, many millions of dollars.

Now comes the ripe fruit of forty years of experience, in a thousand separate lines.

Now comes a new science—the science of Strategy—worked out into rules of procedure.

Now come new ways for getting distribution, for securing quick returns, for rapidly building trade. For doing all these things at a trifling risk, and often without investment.

It sounds almost impossible, and it was impossible up to a few years ago. But it since has been done—done a hundred times over. And this book, for the first time, tells how it was done.

Any man with a selling problem is welcome to this book. And every such man should have it.

It will bring to him the digested experience of men who have traveled every road to success.

It marshals known facts, and works out their deductions. And every deduction has a wide application. The ablest men will get the greatest benefit.

You will wonder, perhaps, how we came to reveal these hard-earned secrets, these proved-out plans. Our answer is this: Our object is mainly to wake men up to this Agency's efficiency. To convey to all a new conception of our powers and prowess.

Cut out this reminder; put it in your pocket. Then, when convenient, write us for the book.

Scandal in Chicago Police Department Grows

Mayor Harrison of Chicago at Right Chief of Police McWeeney is left Chicago, Ill., Sept.—As a result of the gambling games operated just outside of the south side ball park during the Gatch Hackenschmidt wrestling match one police officer has been suspended and a number of high officials in the department have got to show Mayor Harrison just why they did not arrest those operating the in and Lieutenant Walsh are being carefully investigated and the two men have made written statements concerning their knowledge of the condition. This scandal in the Chicago police department comes as a climax to a host of accusations by individuals and newspapers charging alleged graft. State Attorney Wayman is investigating the Labor Day gambling to see if there was any graft connected with the particular violation of the law.

Cam of Ancient Architecture.
The Oratory of Gallus, situated on the Dingo promontory in Kerry, is probably the oldest place of Christian worship in the United Kingdom. It is unique in its architecture, for it was built without mortar, and the arch was formed direct from the ground level by the peculiar placing of the stones. In the east gable is the only window in the building, while in the west is the small doorway. The building, which is now one of the national monuments of the Emerald Isle, has recently been restored to perfect condition.

Got Rid of Snake.
A farmer's wife near Gering, N. S. W., saw a snake eating bread from her baby's hand. She put out a doll next day with poisoned bread in its hand and in the evening found a dead snake in the yard.

Not "Snake Holes."
The holes commonly seen in the fields are not "snake holes," though commonly called such. They are made by field mice, shrews and moles, often by the larger insects, and it is very seldom that snakes even take refuge in them. Few snakes actually dig holes. They burrow in soft ground—the subterranean species; but these live, as a rule, in soft, yielding soil.—St. Nicholas.

Don't Mention It.
The politest man in Boston collided violently with another man on the street. The second man was angry. "My dear sir," said the polite one with a bow, "I don't know which of us is to blame for this encounter. If I ran into you, I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, don't mention it."—Success Magazine.
